Supplementary material: Why Is Immigration Important to You?

A Revisit To Public Issue Salience and Elite Cues

Soyeon Jin

TUM School of Social Sciences and Technology, Technical University of Munich

Table S1

Hypothesis 2a testing.

	OR	95% CI
	Public issue salience
Media salience	1.007	[1.007, 1.008]
Satisfaction with the federal government	1.02	[0.946, 1.099]
General EU satisfaction	1.037	[0.948, 1.134]
Log-likelihood	-3814.317
Total observations	365,308

Note 1: The dependent variable is in a binary form (An answer to the question "What is the most important problem the country is facing?" Immigration=1, Others=0).

Note 2: The analysis was performed with waves around the 2016 Brexit referendum (wave 7, 8, 10).

Note 3: *p <0.05; p <0.01; p <0.001

Table S2

Hypothesis 2a testing.

	Dependent variable
	Anti-immigrant attitudes
Media salience	0.001
	(0.00005)
Satisfaction with the UK	-0.001
	(0.008)
General EU satisfaction	-0.064
	(-0.009)
Number of individuals	38,751
Total observations	73,228
R2	0.027
Adjusted R2	-1.067
F Statistic	318.617 (df = 3; 34474)

Note 1: The analysis was performed with waves around the 2016 Brexit referendum (wave 7, 8, 10).

Note 2: *p <0.05; p <0.01; p <0.001