

War and Nationalism: How WW1 battle deaths fueled civilians' support for the Nazi Party

Appendix

Table of Contents

A	Data sources	3
A.1	County-level election data	6
A.2	WW1 casualty lists	6
A.3	Nazi autobiographies	12
A.4	Pre-WW1 memorials	15
A.5	Descriptive statistics	18
B	Treatment exogeneity	19
B.1	Pre-war military districts	19
B.2	City counties	20
B.3	Pre-war nationalism	21
B.4	Relationship between the casualty fatality rate among casualties and the casualty fatality rate among drafted soldiers	22
B.5	Additional historical evidence on exogeneity of the casualty fatality rate	24
C	Robustness tests	29
C.1	Standard Errors	29
C.2	Different fixed effects specifications	30
C.3	Regional heterogeneity	31
C.4	Covariates	33
C.5	Different treatment specifications	34
C.6	Measurement bias	35
C.7	Using only variation from mapped battles	37
D	Additional results	38
D.1	Draft eligibility	38
D.2	Differences between civilians and veterans: NSDAP membership data	39
D.3	Placebo test: impressionable years	40
D.4	Analysis of Hitler Youth membership	41
D.5	External validity analysis - LITS data	42

D.6	Memorials	45
E	Alternative explanations	47
E.1	Pre-war nationalism	47
E.2	Veterans	49
E.3	Economic channel	51
E.4	Other parties	53

Note:

This is only an abbreviated version of the full Supplementary Appendix. For the full Appendix see the file "ww1_appendix.pdf" in the Dataverse replication archive of this study at <https://doi.org/10.7910/DVN/WOEWJ3>