Fig. DS1 Actograms for participants with schizophrenia ranging from well entrained to highly disrupted rest-activity cycles (48 h-double plotted, continuous days on vertical axes).

The image shows a large table with multiple columns and rows, containing dense handwritten text. The text is illegible due to blurring and low resolution. The table appears to be a ledger or record book with several columns and many rows of entries. The handwriting is in a cursive style, and the overall appearance is that of a scanned document from a past era.
