

Normalized transient viscosity after shear reversal for different particle volume fractions vs local strain. Local measurements were performed in the middle of the gap (Blanc et al 2011a).