

Figure S1: Image processing and classification workflow. Image acquisition and processing was done in Google Earth Engine, as well as model training and application of the model to the selected imagery. Training points and the independent accuracy assessment were done in QGIS.