

Supplementary Figure 1. A representative male germ cell undergoing apoptosis. A degenerating germ cell with morphological features of apoptosis such as condensation of the nucleus, cell retraction, and increased electron density of the cytoplasmic matrix is seen at the tubular lumen in a spermatogonial stem cell-transplanted W^v/W^v mouse. L, lumen; SE, seminiferous epithelium. Scale bar, 5 μm .